-Your response can be about an event that is personal or unique to you, or something that has made the news locally, nationally or even internationally. You decide.

-You will need to follow the conventions of a newspaper article.

-Your response should be checked for accurate spelling, punctuation and grammar.

Support: Remember to include the 5 Ws in your opening paragraph.

Challenge: Include some of the following in your article: an alliterative headline, subheadings, some bias from the reporter, a range of quotations, a correctly used semi-colon, a picture and caption.

Super Challenge: Write a letter to the newspaper in response to the article. You may wish to complain about the biased nature of the article, or to argue/agree with some of its ideas.
